

Bighorn Sheep and Mountain Goats

Time to test your Mountain Mammal skills by building an at home exploration course! You can use tape, chalk outside, or unique materials like coins or socks to map out a course through your home! With an adults help and permission, add furniture or pillows to climb over.

Goats and sheep use their hooves to stay steady on snow, ice, rocky ledges, grass. Use your feet to follow your path and test your balance. Include some objects to climb or jump over!

Add some stop signs and follow the action! Get creative!

Mountain goats and bighorn sheep are herbivores, so you may need to find some fruit or veggies to snack on.

Goats and sheep like to lick areas of natural salt, so maybe add a salty snack your course!
